AGENDA

A complimentary webinar presented by Physicians Insurance to help physicians navigate being a defendant in a medical liability claim.

On average, 68% of physicians are likely to experience litigation. That means you're more likely than not to experience a lawsuit at some point in your career. We hope you never find yourself in that position, but if you do, preparation can make all the difference in the way you understand and approach your case.

"So Now You're a Defendant: How to Successfully Navigate Litigation from Complaint to Trial... and Beyond," is an inside look at what you may experience as a defendant in a medical liability trial and how to effectively manage that process.

This hour-long panel discussion with leading industry experts will walk you through a trial that one of our clients faced recently. You will hear from the physician, his defense attorney, and a Physicians Insurance claims expert as they take you through the case scenario, including the following phases:

- You've Been Served: Now What?
- Demystifying the Legal Process:
How I Met My Lawyer
- Surviving the Discovery Process:
The Great Silence
- Trials and Tribulations: Now It's Personal
